BLAST ROCKS S. F. HALL OF JUSTICE

DEATH TRAP SET FOR MEMBERS OF POLICE FORCE

TIME BOMB EXPLODES IN PUBLIC CORRIDOR

State-wide Search for Suspected Radicals Opened, Following Bombing of Court House—Bomb the Work of Expert.

San Francisco.—A bomb placed in the corridor of the hall of justice and timed to explode at the hour when the corridor is usually filled with police officials and detectives, wrecked the main entrance of the building at 10:07 Sunday morning and scattered bullets, jagged pieces of iron and splinters of wood into floors, walls and ceiling.

The time of the explosion was at the hour when Chief of Police O'Brien, Captain of Detectives Matheson and Police Captain William Quinn ordinarily arrive for their regular Sunday morning conference.

It is also the hour when the corridor is used by practically no one but members of the police department on Sundays, but almost the exact time when members of the special duty squads are assembling for orders and consultations.

The police are convinced that the bomb was sent by some one who knew the facts, and that some member of the department was the intended victim.

The bomb was placed twenty-five feet from the door to Chief O'Brien's office, and tore a hole through the wall of police headquarters, completely demolishing the telephone booth, shattered all the glass in the corridor and wrecked a steam radiator.

The explosion was caused by a picric-acid bomb constructed in a length of two-inch pipe, capped at both ends in a manner which showed it to be the work of some one skilled in the use of plumbers' tools.

This pipe had been filled with about thirty cartridges of 32-calibre which were detonated and scattered by a heavy charge of powder when set off by the action of the picric acid eating through a lead container. The thickness of the lead and the strength of the acid determines the length of time between the loading of the bomb and the explosion.

It is the same type of bomb which recently was sent through the mail from San Francisco to Attorney Torchia in Los Angeles and blew of his arm shortly after he opened the package.

INTERESTING FINDS ARE MADE IN ANCIENT ARIZONA VILLAGE

Reno.—Over forty pueblo dwellings, eleven bodies of pre-historic Indians, ancient weapons and pottery, beautifully made and decorated in black and red, have been uncovered in the buried city in the Virgin River valley. The relics include spearheads, rock carvings and skeletons similar to those found in the Zuni pueblos and burial grounds in Arizona and New Mexico, and mark the farthest northern march of the Zuni tribes.

The buried city covers several miles in extreme southeastern Nevada, traversed by the Muddy and Virgin rivers, tributaries of the Colorado.

Shanghai Taken in Coup

Shanghai.—Following twenty-four hours' spirited fighting on the borders of the French concession near Shanghai, during which districts on the edge of the concession, including the American school, were under severe rifle fire, government forces were completely routed by Generals Sun Shuan Fang and Chi Hsieh-yuan, who now control the entire Shanghai area, including Lunkhwa Yamen arsenal.

Another Justice May Retire

Washington.—Another vacancy on the bench of the supreme court in the near future was indicated in unconfirmed but undenied reports that Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was preparing to resign. Although Justice Holmes has not disclosed his plans, some of his friends say he will leave the bench in time for his successor to be confirmed before congress adjourns, March 4.

Railroad Commissioners Named

Sacramento.—George D. Squires, state insurance commissioner, and Ezra Decoto, district attorney of Alameda county, have been appointed to the two vacancies on the state railroad commission by Governor Richardson, to succeed Irving Martin, editor of the Stockton Record, and James T. Whittlesey, civil engineer of San Francisco, whose terms expire January 1.

GOVERNOR GIVES BUDGET FIGURES

JOINT SESSION OF LEGISLATURE GETS MESSAGE

EXPENSES EXPECTED TO KEEP WITHIN REVENUE

Executive's Request for $103,430,275 For 1925-27, Estimates a Surplus of $1,141,505 — Railroad Commission Figures Same as Last Biennium.

Sacramento.—Governor Richardson's biennial budget, presented to the legislature at a joint session, showed that the state proposes to spend $103,430,275.10 during the coming two years.

According to figures listed in the printed budget, which was compiled by the state board of control, the state's revenues for the same two-year period will total $104,570,780.19.

In delivering his budg[illegible] to the legislature Governor Richardson said he had endeavored to carry out his economy program and keep the state's expenses within its income. "The people ultimately pay every dollar of taxes, whether such taxation be direct or indirect, hence it is apparent that expenditures should be curtailed as much as possible," the governor said.

In his message the governor explained "that in view of the fact that changes will be made in the next few days in the personnel of the state railroad commission it has been thought best to leave the budget figures the same as for the last biennium so that the new commissioners may have the opportunity to make recommendations."

The largest increase in the budget is in appropriations for education, amounting to $10,000,000. The governor said "that as pointed out by the board of control in its letter of transmittal of the budget, if these increases fixed by statute are continued they will, in a few years' time, absorb the entire income of the state."

The governor explained that the increase in bond and interest payments will be $2,000,000 over the previous biennium. Eight hundred thousand dollars will have to be turned back to the insurance companies for taxes collected on premiums returned to subscribers, due to an adverse ruling by the California supreme court, he pointed out.

The budget was accompanied by the appropriation bill covering the proposed expenditures for the forthcoming two-year period.

In explanation of the budget made by the state board of control in transmittal to the governor, it was pointed out that the self-sustaining departments of the state are not included in the general budget, but are under a separate head. The following table gives the budget for the various state departments:

HI PLAYS PALO ALTO TONIGHT

This week our high tossers played a tiegame with theh Morgan Hillers, 14 to 14. This was a complete surprise to all as our boys had that little ol' game tucked away in their jeans when up bobs "Old Man Slump" and just wouldn't permit any ringers. Whether too much confidence or too little pep is the question but tie it was.

Friday afternoon, January 16, the Campbell basketball teams, will journey to Palo Alto where they will clash in one of their hardest games of the season.

Everyone who possibly can is urged to attend this game as Campbell wants the support and it will be worth their while. The line-up for Campbell is B. Team, forwards, Hummel, Hedegard, Blaine, Monte; center, A. Kalas; guards, Nishita, Cramer, Pizano. A Team, forwards, Nelson, Clark, Steindorf, Duncan, Bonaccorso; center, C. Nelson, Robinson; guards, Reed, Shelley, Sundquist.

GRANGERS ENJOY BUSY WEEK-END

Santa Clara county Pomona Grange met at Gilroy January 10. There was a large attendance from all the granges of the county and every one seemed to have a most enjoyable time.

Worthy State Master Harrison was present and installed all the officers of Pomona and the subordinate granges present, J. H. Bone, of the San Jose grange, being made master of Pomona.

Mr. Clendenning, of Campbell, gave an instructive talk on the water conservation project for Santa Clara valley, which we will be asked to vote on March 10. Miss Myrtle Arnott rendered several instrumental selections which were enjoyed by all.

Orchard City Grange held its regular session last Tuesday evening with the new officers all in their chairs. Mr. Louis Shelley as Master. Mr. and Mrs. Mathieson were obligated in the third and fourth degrees. Mr. Peterson sung two of his enjoyable songs to the delight of the grange.

The reading of the constitution of the grange was a part of the lecturers program. Many of the members present had never heard or read it before and were much interested. Some made very favorable remarks as to the breadth of character and spirit of progressive conservatism.

Mr. Leroy Anderson gave a splendid talk on the work of our present legislature. Mr. Clendening gave a talk on co-operative marketing and Mr. Hedegard spoke on better cooperation in our schools.

Under civic improvements we were informed that Hamilton avenue was to be paved soon.

Mr. H. G. Keesling under the head of education reported that thus far 3 states had endorsed the child labor amendment and three opposed it. Speaking of the Flower Lovers Club and its program of education, he said Santa Clara county could grow more and better roses than any other part of the state and the Flower Lovers Club proposes to make the Santa Clara valley the home of the rose. Let the good work go on. We would like to see every road of the valley lined with a row of roses on either side. Just imagine a few years hence riding thru this valley over our beautiful roads with the most beautiful roses blooming in the greatest profusion on either side in all colors and miles and miles of them. Then think of the visitors from the east going back home and telling their people they "never saw such sights in our lives." There is nothing that could ever give Santa Clara a greater reputation. But wait a moment, we must plant the roses first. With all of our frosty weather of late, it is astonishing what beautiful flowers have just been exhibited at the mid winter show of the Flower Lovers Club just closed the first of this week in San Jose at the Chamber of Commerce. I have made a list of winter blooming plants that may be of interest to some, here it is: Snap dragon, African daisy, Tritoma, Ivy Geranium, Iris, Roses in great variety, bridal wreath, verbena, gilardia, chrysanthemum, salvia, Marguerite, China hyacinth, narcissus, agaratum, battle brush, malvia, heather, sweet alysium, flowering current, violets, anemone, bongainvillia, clarkia, jasmine, snowdrops, viburnum, stocks, carnation, batchelor buttons, Jananese quince, hydranga, pentstemon, calalily, primrose, everlastings, plumbago, hollyhock, yellow lupin, pansy, calicanthus, geranium,

This is not intended as a complete list by any means, but simply a short list of plants I have observed blooming during various months of the winter, and there are no doubt many others as good or better. Some of the names cover a wide variety of plants, some of which are hardy, others are not.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Kennedy, 131 North First street, Wednesday, January 21, at 2:30 o'clock.

WILL HOLD BACK THE PIT RIVER

The big dam being built by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company on the Pit River in Shasta County is being rapidly completed.

This dam will be 125 feet high, 500 feet long, 150 feet thick at the bottom and 18 feet thick at the top. It was started July 1924 and will be completed in the early spring of 1925.

It will back the water of the Pit up for a distance of 10 miles, forming an immense lake.

The big river is now flowing through the temporary flume. Immense piers are being built on the down stream side of the dam to break the force of the water which will flow over the dam.

To date 30,000 yards of concrete have been poured. In all 80,000 yards will be used.

The crest of the dam will become a part of the new county road which the Company has built into Burney Falls, a part of California's wonderland.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT

An interesting experiment in volume advertising is described in a trade periodical this month, going to bear out the oft-repeated statement that "it pays to advertise."

A jewelry store in Seattle, Washington, decided to put on an anniversary sale of unusual scope. If we remember rightly, the firm has completed fifty years in business.

To put on the sale the firm engaged the services of a trained publicity man, so that there would be no doubt of the event going off well. They gave him carte blanche as regards expenditures for advertising; which is music in the ears of publicity men.

He started out many days before the sale with small tasteful notices in the papers announcing the forthcoming anniversary event. The day before the sale he startled Seattle with eight pages of solid advertising in the principal evening paper; the cost for which was something over four thousand dollars.

The newspaper was frank to admit that never before in its history had it carried eight pages of advertising for one firm; and there was just a suggestion that the use of so much space did not justify the ends.

So the advertising manager suggested that a reporter be sent around to interview the jewelry firm as to the success of the sale, and to ask the frank question whether the eight pages of advertising were justified by results.

"You can judge for yourself," the firm told the reporter. "The eight pages of advertising cost us over four thousand dollars. The next day the store did something over $52,000 worth of business."

This editorial is not propaganda on the part of a newspaper to boost its advertising columns. But it is a refutation of the idea still entertained in the minds of many that newspaper publicity is the least important of the attributes that go to make a successful retail house. It is, in fact, essential in virtually all lines of retail business. Nothing else will tell the community so quickly and so cheaply what a store has to offer; and nothing else will bring the buying public to that store as effectively.—Olean (N. Y.) Times.

INCOME TAX PUBLICITY

The publication of the amounts paid by income tax payers should not harm the individual. In this age there is scarcely anything that is secret when it comes to dealing with the government. Railroads and all public utilities are required by law to make public not only their taxes paid, but their tariffs, rates, profits and physical valuations. There is no good reason why the millionaire should want his income tax kept out of the public view any more than his local property taxation, which always has been open to anyone who took the trouble to look it up on the county and city records.

The thing for the press to decide is whether income tax payments have any news value after all. If they have no news value, newspapers will cease to publish them when the novelty wears off. But if they do have news value to any degree above the satisfaction of idle curiosity, then they should be published. This test might well be applied to many other things besides income tax payments.

A sure cure for headache: Stop reading those figures representing the money being appropriated by Congress for this and that, mostly for that. The pennies Uncle Sam takes in from all of us goes out in millions for all the rest of us.

CONGRESSMAN ENTERTAINS AT HOLIDAY PARTIES

The home of Congressman and Mrs. A. M. Free in Washington was the scene of delightful festivities over the Christmas holidays. Following their usual custom, Mr. and Mrs. Free invited the midshipmen from Annapolis who had no relatives in the East to spend the holidays with them. A Christmas tree and dinner, a visit to the various points of interest about Washington, a visit to the White House to meet the President and Mrs. Coolidge, attending an army hop, and being present at several sections of Congress were some of the entertainment provided. Best of all, Washington was visited with a severe snowstorm, and this gave the California boys a chance to get some real sleighing, and finally some ice skating. The boys have all returned to their studies at Annapolis, grateful that they had the privilege of spending their vacation around a real home fireside.

Next summer the midshipmen are to take their annual cruise in the Pacific, and their relatives and friends will have an opportunity to see them before they begin their studies again in the Fall.

Useless statistics: Only one tramp in every 10,000 ever reads the stock market reports.

Another indication of prosperity is the heavy crop of calendars this year.

In spite of a short apple crop in the district, the plant started with about 40,000 field boxes of fruit in cold storage, or about two-thirds the capacity. This will be taken out of storage, sorted, packed and shipped as the market demands, and not on the old consignment basis.

HIGHER EDUCATION PAYS

The United Bureau of Education grings out some statistics to bolster up the self-respect of that much derided thing, the college diploma. It points out that although less than 1 per ecnt of all Americans are college graduates, this 1 per cent has furnished 55 per cent of the presidents, 36 per cent of the members of congress, 47 per cent of the speakers of the house, 54 per cent of the vice-presidents, 62 per cent of the secretaries of state, 50 per cent of the secretaries of the treasury, 67 per cent of the attorneys general and 69 per cent of the justices of the supreme court. As it figures it, the college man's chances for eminence is 370 to 1 against the non-college man. Even more surprising is its showing that 227 times as many college men had amassed wealth as had non-college men. This proportion is expected to grow sharply in the next fifty ears, for the colleges are now turning their attention largely to preparation for success in business careers.—Kansas Teacher.

CALIFORNIA DUE FOR GREAT GROWTH, DURING 1925,
SAN FRANCISCO:—California is due for an influx of population some time in the spring, according to a letter received from John McNamara, of Lawrence, Massachusetts, who in answering one of Californians Inc., advertisements asked for transportation rates for himself, his wife and ten children. The children's ages run, two, five, seven, nine, eleven, thirteen, sixteen, twenty-one, thewnty-three and twenty-five.
Californians Inc., immediately got in touch with one of the transcontinental railroads to work out details as to the cost of the trip.
It is estimated that it will cost McNamara $1,225.32 to bring his family here and that three pullman sections will be necessary, two persons to a berth.

What Is Americanization?

The word "Americanization" has fallen under a shadow because it has been used too frequently as a cant phrase, but it is too good a word to be relegated to the limbo of discredited terminology.
What does it mean? Not merely an ability to read and write the English language and to understand all the modus operandi of the American government, with a smattering of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. There are ununmbered American citizens of both nativeand foreign birth who know all these things and more and yet fall far short of being good American citizens.
To be an American in truth is to have an understanding of American tradition and American history, whereby there has been developed upon this continent a new social order different from and better than any social organizations that history has known, distinctive because for the first time here is a social order dedicated to justice, liberty, brotherhood and righteousness. It means further, a profound appreciation of those principles and of that spirit that has made this nation great, not only in populations but in moral force and spiritual ideals.
When a man of foreign birth or ancestry assumes the obligations of the American citizen he by that act specially repudiates the culture and ideals of his fathers insofar as that culture and those ideals conflict with the spirit and purposes of the American commonwealth. There can be no divided allegiance; no other country, no dual love.
Alan P. Pleve, addressing the Jewish Federation in Indianapolis, is reported to have said that he is "opposed to attempts to force foreigners to adopt American customs and abandon their native traditions and habits." Very well, then, if those native traditions and habits are antagonistic to the traditions and spirit of America, people who hold that belief have no place in our country and certainly have no rights to the benefits and privileges of citizenship.—The New Age.

School Frocks Recite the Mode's Simplicity

The picture of the pretty school frock shown here tells its simple but pleasant story with much completeness. The dress is made of wool jersey, in a castor shade, and has just enough adornment of fine tucks and buttons to reveal the expert workmanship that gives it class. As an exponent of the mode in school frocks it cannot be excelled—they are nearly all made on the same lines. The round collar, of unbleached linen, is brightened by a little fancy stitching done in a high color, and it is by far the most popular neck finish. There are small, practical pockets at each side, long sleeves with tucked cuffs and a narrow belt of the material.
In spite of their sameness in style there is plenty of diversity in school frocks—because there is great variety in the materials used for making them. Plain and patterned twills, striped and crossbar flannels, velveteen, kasha and fancy woolen weaves are used. Pipings in bright colors brighten up the darker colors—as pipings of bright red or green on navy blue, and short rows of round buttons to match these pipings make a very pretty finish.

A 2-story frame school building for the Plumas county high school district is to be built at Portola, to contain eight rooms and cost about $15,000.
The actual yield from farm, orchard and garden products in California has been estimated by the state department of agriculture to be worth $433,000,000.

Los Gatos Man Drafted into State Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—A. E. Falch, publisher of the Los Gatos Mail-News, was today appointed state building and loan commisssioner by Governor Richardson to replace Charles R. Detrick, promoted to be insurance commissioner, vice George D. Squires, new railroad commissioner. The other new railroad commissioner appointed by Governor Richardson today was District Attorney Ezra W. Decoto, of Alameda county.
The naming of Falch was a complete surprise, as Gilbert Daniels, former chairman of the state board of control, had been most prominently mentioned for the place. Falch was prominent in the governor's campaign and was identified with the state labor commission before entering newspaper publishing work.
In selecting Falch, Governor Richardson said: "A. E. Falch has been drafted as building and loan commissioner because of his honesty, integrity and fitness for the place. Investors will be protected as they have been under Commissioner Detrick. I fee. gratified that these two able men have accepted these positions." The announcement was made after the meeting of the board of regents of the University of California and Regent J. O. Hayes of San Jose was one of the first to compliment Governor Richardson on Falch's selection. "I feel sure that Commissioner Falch will ably discharge the duties of his new office in a creditable way," Regent Hayes said.
The appointments came to Detrick, Squires, Decoto and Falch as complete surprises. It was simply a good illustration of Governor Richardson's method of drafting citizens into public service.

Highway Board For State Police

SACRAMENTO,—The annual report of the state highway commission, supplanting the recent yearly statement of State Highway Engineer R. M. Morton, was completed for presentation to Governor Richardson and the state legislature, and embodied the following recommendations:
"When funds are available, the commission is of the opinion it would be desirable to assume, upon behalf of the state these activities:
"Maintenance of travelable state routes whether construction has been commenced or completed.
"The design, supervision and construction of all bridges on the state highway system.
"The acquiring of all rights of way necessary for state highway purposes.
"The construction and maintenance, to such an extent as may be necessary to serve the traveling public, of highway routes through the smaller cities and towns."
Reckless driivng on state highways will not be eurbed, says the report, until "a force of state motor police, under exclusive state control, is created and maintained."
The cost of new bridges which should be built imediately is estimated at $12,000,000. In addition, many dangerous grade crossings should be eliminated, the commission sets forth, and the cost will run into millions.
Approval of the new convict pay law is given by the commission which adds:
"If this method of construction is to be extended, it should be by direct legislative appropriation to finance each camp for a two year period."

Luce Auto Hit By Reckless Driver

The Stevens creek road in the vicinity of the Burbank garage was liberally sprinkled with wine Friday evening when a car driven by Joseph Leal, of San Jose, crashed into the side of a car driven by C. H. Luce, of Saratoga.
Leal managed to get free from the wreck and despite the fact that his car was badly damaged continued on down the road toward San Jose without stopping. The accident was witnessed by Traffic Officer A. S. Margarson, who was soon in pursuit and after a chase of a number of blocks was able to stop Leal whom he found accompanied by Ore Hughson.
Just at this time Traffic Officer R. J. Byers came along and together the officers accompanied the two men to the county jail where they are being held for charges. Several bottles of wine were found in the car and both men were badly intoxicated according to the officers.
Luce's car suffered considerable damage but he was able to proceed to his home although he was also out the price of a box of apples which he was carrying on the running board, the greater portion of the fruit being found decorating the Leal car.
A short time before this accident Officer Byers arrested J. B. Stetson on the Monterey road after a chase of several miles at a high speed. Stetson was also taken to the county jail and later released on bail to face charges of reckless driving which the officer declares he will make.
This is the first arrest in a campaign to stop the excessive speed of motorists on the highways and further arrests will be made on charge of reckless driving if the practice is not stopped according to the officer.
